

The Middlesbrough

Roll of Honour of the Great War

Names “M”

Compiled by Robert Coulson (1952 – 2008)

In the years 1914-1918 thousands of Middlesbrough men and women served their country in a time of hardship, stress and suffering both for the troops on the battlefronts and those left at home.

After the Armistice in November of 1918 handsome memorial tablets and plaques recalling the fallen were erected in the works, shops and churches of the Middlesbrough area.

At this time a committee was formed to consider the question of a war memorial for the town as a whole to remember the citizens who had laid down their lives.

In the words of the committee,

“We recognise the splendid sacrifice made by our men and we desire that our children and our children’s’ children should hear the story and share in the inspiration which such sacrifice will always give”.

The response of the townspeople resulted in the fine cenotaph of Aberdeen granite and the wall of Portland stone containing the bronze panels with the names of the fallen that we see today at the entrance to Albert Park.

The memorial works were completed at a cost of approximately £17,000 and the people of the town attended in their thousands for the dedication and unveiling ceremony which took place on November 11th 1922.

This roll of honour contains close to 3500 names of the fallen who are remembered on the memorial and also those whose names were put forward by their families after the unveiling ceremony.

I felt it fitting that as the centenary of the onset of the Great War approaches I should try and add a little information on those remembered and the actions in which they laid down their lives.

I would just add that much as I regret it, details on some of these brave people is not available due to the passage of time but their names will still appear in the text as they do on the memorial panels.

Finally just a few points to consider,

It will be noticed that on some of the entries no Middlesbrough connection may be obvious, indeed the person appears to have come from well outside the area or even the country.

It must be remembered that it was the townspeople who put the names forward for inclusion and as an example a relation who stayed with the family in the town occasionally, could well appear after his family took the trouble to forward the name.

Middlesbrough was a thriving centre of industry at the time and a person may well have been employed in the town before hostilities and had their name included by workmates.

Serving under an alias is also quite common and although sometimes used to cover criminal activity, was normally just a person keen to serve but underage and using another identity.

Also a mother who had taken another man's name might have offspring who preferred to serve using their natural father's name.

Double entries for the same name also appear quite a few times, for example, Samuel Alder and S Alder.

I believe they are one and the same person named twice as a result of a large family with different branches putting the name forward twice.

The person will appear in the listing as named on the memorial with any variations in spelling and second names being included in the text.

It will be noticed that some entries begin "I believe this to be".

These are people who to the best of my judgement are those named but can not be 100% certain. They are included with the best intentions and if a mistake is made I make my apologies in advance.

Robert Henry Coulson died on 8 November 2008. His papers were donated to the Green Howards Museum in Richmond, and the work below comes from these papers.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

McDonald, John.

John McDonald was born in Stockport in Cheshire and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 3rd battalion of the Manchester Regiment.

Private McDonald served with the home based Humber Garrison and died of illness or accident on May 4th 1918 at the age of 31.

His grave can be seen today in St Josephs Roman Catholic Cemetery in North Ormesby.

John McDonald was the son of Joseph and Mary McDonald of Stockport and the husband of Ellen Hill, formerly McDonald of 33 Lime Street in Middlesbrough.

Macdonald, John William.

John Macdonald was Middlesbrough born enlisting in the town to serve with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Macdonald was killed in action on June 15th 1915 at the Battle of Givenchy when the battalion advanced at 6-00am.

Having no known grave his name appears on the Le Touret Memorial situated on the southern side of the Bethune to Armentieres road.

Macdonald, J.

Double entry, see John William Macdonald listed above.

Macdonald, Peter.

Middlesbrough born Peter Macdonald enlisted in the town for war service with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Lance Corporal Macdonald was killed in action aged 26 on March 21st 1918 in fighting close to the village of Roupv during the German Spring Offensive.

With no known final resting place he is remembered today on the Pozieres Memorial on the north side of the Albert to Bapaume road.

Macfarlane, J.

Machin, William.

William Machin was born in Sheffield, lived in Easingwold and enlisted in Musselburgh in Midlothian to serve with the 12th battalion of the Royal Scots.

Private Machin was wounded in action and taken as a prisoner of war by the Germans died of his wounds on July 26th 1917 while in captivity.

His grave can be seen today in Cologne Southern Cemetery situated three miles south of Cologne city centre in Germany.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Mack, William.

Royal Navy man William Mack served as a Trimmer aboard HMS Research and HMS Novello.

He died ashore of war related injury or illness on September 3rd 1918 at the age of 46.

The husband of Nellie Mack his grave today lies in Portland Royal Naval Cemetery on Portland Bill in Dorset.

Mack, William.

Double entry, see William Mack listed above.

Mackenzie, Albert.

Maddock, Joseph.

Joseph Maddock was born in Haverton Hill and enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 7th battalion of the East Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Maddock was killed in action on March 31st 1918 aged 23 during a 5-00am attack close to the Ancre river on the Somme.

Another with no known grave he is remembered on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

Joseph Maddock was the son of Adam and Mary Maddock of 2 Saltholme Terrace in Port Clarence and husband of Elizabeth Maddock of 17 Horsefield Street in Middlesbrough.

Maddren, Thomas Henry.

Thomas Maddren was North Ormesby born and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Maddren was killed in action on June 15th 1915 aged 24 in a 6-00am advance during the Battle of Givenchy.

With no known final resting place, his name is remembered on the Le Touret Memorial situated four and a half miles north east of Bethune.

Macnamara, Alfred.

Macnamara, William.

Macpherson, William Malcolm.

Merchant Navy man William Macpherson served as 2nd Mate on the Middlesbrough registered SS Kul.

He died on June 12th 1918 aged 21 when the SS Kul was torpedoed and sank three and a half miles north east of Wolf Rock.

William Macpherson was born in Holland and was the son of Malcolm and Wilhelmina Macpherson of 36 Queens Road in Middlesbrough.

His name is remembered today on the Tower Hill Memorial in Trinity Square in London.

Mahon, A T.

Arthur Thomas Mahon enlisted in London for war service with the 1/5th battalion of the London Regiment.

Rifleman Mahon was killed in action on the first day of the Battle of the Somme, July 1st 1916 aged 19 when the battalion attacked the village of Gommecourt.

Arthur Mahon was the son of the Reverend E B Mahon and Mrs Agnes Catherine Mahon of 163 Harlaxton Road in Grantham, his name today being remembered on the Thiepval Memorial.

Malkinson, Joseph.

Joseph Malkinson was born in Manchester and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 6th battalion of the Northamptonshire Regiment.

Private Malkinson was killed in action aged 20 on September 29th 1918 during the Battle of the St Quentin Canal and having no known grave is remembered today on the Vis en Artois Memorial six miles south east of Arras on the road to Cambrai.

Mallinson, Joseph.

Joseph Mallinson was Middlesbrough born, lived in North Ormesby and enlisted in West Hartlepool for service with the 13th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Mallinson was killed in action on September 21st 1917 aged 29 at the Battle of the Menin Road, part of the Passchendaele offensive.

His grave can be visited today in Hooge Crater Cemetery situated two miles east of Ypres along the Menin Road and close to where he fell.

Joseph Mallinson was the son of K and J Mallinson of Middlesbrough.

Malone, John.

John Malone was born at Monaghan in Co Donegal, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in London with the Royal Engineers before transferring to the Labour Corps. Pioneer Malone was wounded in action and taken through the casualty chain died of his wounds aged 54 on December 1st 1917.

His grave today lies in Grevillers British Cemetery situated two miles west of Bapaume.

John Malone was the husband of the late Mrs M A Malone.

Maloney, Hugh.

Maloney, John.

John Maloney was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town for war service with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Maloney fell in actions close to the Nieuwe Kruiseecke crossroads during the 1st Battle of Ypres on October 30th 1914 aged 21.

He has no known grave and is remembered today on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

John Maloney was the son of William and Mary Maloney of 16 Rock Street in Middlesbrough.

Maloney, Patrick.

Patrick Maloney was South Bank born and lived in Middlesbrough where he worked as a driver in the steelworks before the war.

Serving with the 2nd battalion of the Durham Light Infantry, Private Maloney was wounded holding the line in trenches east of Houplines and died of his injuries aged 32 on April 30th 1915.

His grave can be seen today in Erquinghem-Lys Churchyard Extension situated one mile to the west of Armentieres.

Manders, John.

John Manders was born and lived in Middlesbrough, enlisting in Richmond into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Serving with "B" Company of the Yorkshires Private Manders was killed in action aged 24 on March 12th 1915 during the Battle of Neuve Chapelle.

Having no known grave his name is on the panels of the Le Touret Memorial situated on the south side of the Bethune to Armentieres road.

John Manders was the son of Thomas and Sarah Manders and the husband of Mrs M Manders of 354 Cannon Street in Middlesbrough.

Manen, John.

Mann, Joseph.

Middlesbrough born Joseph Mann enlisted in the town into the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Wounded in actions during the summer of 1916, he was passed through the casualty clearing chain to a hospital in England where he died of his wounds aged 23 on July 24th 1916.

The son of Joseph and Mary Jane Mann of Sydney Street in Middlesbrough, his grave today lies in Linthorpe Cemetery.

Manning, Dennis.

Dennis Manning was Middlesbrough born, enlisting in the town to serve with the 8th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Manning was wounded in actions holding the line in the Angres sector and died of his wounds on March 22nd 1916 at the age of 26.

His grave can be visited today in Lillers Communal Cemetery in the town of Lillers situated seven miles to the north west of Bethune.

Mannion, Charles.

Charles Mannion was born in Middlesbrough enlisting in the town into the Teesside Pioneers, the 12th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mannion was killed in actions in Bourslon Wood during the Battle of Cambrai on November 28th 1917.

Having no known grave he is remembered today on the Cambrai Memorial in the village of Louverval seven miles to the north east of Bapaume.

Mannifield, T D.

Triple entry, see below.

Mannifield, Thomas.

Triple entry, see below.

Mannifield, Tom.

Tom Mannifield was born at Undercliffe in Bradford, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in Stockton with the 1/5th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Mannifield was wounded in action in a late evening attack on the Flers Line during the Somme offensive and died of his wounds aged 31 on October 2nd 1916.

His grave can be visited today in St Sever Cemetery situated two miles south of the cathedral in the city of Rouen.

Maplethorpe, James Robert.

James Maplethorpe was born, lived and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 1/4th battalion of the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regiment.

Corporal Maplethorpe was killed in action aged 21 on April 14th 1918 at the Battle of Bailleul during the Battles of the Lys.

With no known final resting place, his name is on the panels of the Tyne Cot Memorial five miles to the north east of Ypres in Belgium.

Mapplebeck, Thomas.

Born in Middlesbrough, Thomas Mapplebeck enlisted in the town for war service with the 129th Heavy Battery of the Royal Garrison Artillery.

Gunner Mapplebeck was killed in action on June 4th 1917 aged just 19 during the build up to the start of the Passchendaele offensive.

His grave today lies seven miles south of Ypres in Dranoutre Military Cemetery.

Thomas Mapplebeck was the son of Thomas and Annie Mapplebeck of 34 Senhouse Street, Maryport in Cumberland.

March, John Parkinson.

John March served with the Royal Navy as a stoker aboard HMS Indefatigable.

He died aged 28 on May 31st 1916 at the Battle of Jutland when the Indefatigable was hit by shells from the German battlecruiser Von Der Tann.

The son of Charles and Frances March of Middlesbrough and husband of Catherine Lynch, formerly March of 9 Commercial Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

Margorin, D.

Markley, Francis Noble.

Francis Markley was born and lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town with the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 1/5th battalion of the London Regiment.

Lance Corporal Markley was killed in action on August 29th 1918 aged 21 during the 2nd Battles of the Somme.

His grave can be seen today in Queant Road Cemetery in the village of Buissy situated one mile south of the main Arras to Cambrai road.

Marley, Walter.

Walter Marley was born in Great Ayton and enlisted in Darlington for war service with the 2/4th battalion of the Dorsetshire Regiment.

Private Marley was killed in action aged 19 during the campaign in the Middles East on November 24th 1917, his grave today lying in Jerusalem War Cemetery situated three miles north of the city in Israel.

Walter Marley was the son of Thomas and Margaret Marley of 7 Elmswood Road in Eaglescliffe.

Marlow, J.

James Marlow was born at Glenhall in Co Tyrone enlisting in Middlesbrough into the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Marlow was killed in action during a late afternoon attack on the Turkish line at Ismail Oglu Tepe on August 21st 1915.

With no known grave he is remembered on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

Marriott, J W.

John William Marriott was born in Stockton and before the war worked as a bricklayers labourer.

He enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve as a Shoeing Smith with the 38th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery and died of wounds received during the Passchendaele offensive on September 11th 1917 at the age of 36.

His grave can be visited today in Brandhoek New Military Cemetery No 3 situated four miles to the west of Ypres in Belgium.

John Marriott was the husband of Mary Marriott of 7 Maria Street in North Ormesby.

Marron, Frank.

Frank Marron was born in Port Clarence, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in West Hartlepool with the 10th battalion of the Cameronians, Scottish Rifles.

Private Marron was wounded in actions at the Battle of Loos and taken as a prisoner of war died of his wounds aged 18 on October 11th 1915.

His grave today lies in Douai Communal Cemetery situated thirteen miles to the north east of Arras.

Marron, James.

James Marron was Middlesbrough born and worked in the ironworks before enlisting into the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Marron was killed in action aged 33 on August 27th 1917 in an attack from the Lekkerboter Beek on the German line at the White House.

The son of James and Mary Marron of Middlesbrough and husband of Mary Ann Marron of 18 Derwent Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered on the Tyne Cot Memorial situated on the slopes of the Passchendaele Ridge.

Marron, John Thomas.

John Marron younger brother of James listed above was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in Newcastle into the 24th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers, the Tyneside Irish.

Private Marron was killed in action at the 1st Battle of the Scarpe during the Arras offensive on April 9th 1917 at the age of 21.

His grave can be seen today in Bailleul Road East Cemetery in the village of St Laurent-Blagny on the outskirts of Arras.

John Marron was the son of James and Mary Marron of 56 Warwick Street in Middlesbrough.

Marsden, George William.

George Marsden was born at Leeming Bar in North Yorkshire and before the war worked as an iron moulder enlisting in Middlesbrough into the 1st battalion of the Gordon Highlanders.

Private Marsden was killed in action aged 32 on July 18th 1916 in an attack on the village of Longueval, during the Battle of the Somme.

Having no known grave his name is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme.

George Marsden was the son of Thomas Marsden late of 9 Bennett Street in Middlesbrough and the husband of Mary E McTigue, formerly Marsden of 48 Severs Street in Middlesbrough.

Marsden, John.

John Marsden served with the Royal Naval Reserve as a trimmer aboard HM trawler Strathairlie.

He died at home of war related illness or injury on November 6th 1918 aged 27 and is buried in Linthorpe Cemetery.

John Marsden was the son of Mrs Margaret Ann Graham of 35 Montrose Street in Middlesbrough and husband of the late Ellen Marsden of Portsea in Portsmouth.

Marsden, Walter.

Walter Marsden was born in Pickering, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in Stockton to serve with the 20th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry. Private Marsden was killed in action at the 1st Battle of Bapaume on March 25th 1918 at the age of 24.

Having no known grave he is remembered today on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

Marsh, Frederick William.

Frederick Marsh was born in the St Pauls area of Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the 2nd battalion of the King's Royal Rifle Corps.

Rifleman Marsh was killed in actions between Gheluvelde and Herenthage Chateau on October 31st 1914 at the age of 30.

Another with no known final resting place, his name is recorded on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

Frederick Marsh was the husband of Annie Marsh of 20 Horsefield Street in Middlesbrough.

Marsh, John Henry.

John Marsh was Middlesbrough born and served with the Anson battalion of the Royal Naval Division, the sailors who fought as soldiers.

Able Seaman Marsh died aged just 19 on May 9th 1915 fighting alongside the New Zealanders and Australian forces during the defence of Anzac.

He has no known grave and is remembered today on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

John Marsh was the son of Arthur and Clara Marsh of 31 Florence Street in Middlesbrough.

Marshall, Eustace Harold.

Born in Castleford in West Yorkshire, Eustace Marshall enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 1/4th battalion of the York and Lancaster Regiment.

Private Marshall was killed in action aged 23 on April 12th 1918 at the Battle of Bailleul, during the Battles of the Lys.

Having no known grave, his name is recorded on the panels of the Tyne Cot Memorial, on the slopes of the Passchendaele Ridge to the east of Ypres.

Eustace Marshall was the son of Margaret Marshall and the late Mr W B Marshall of Longlands Cottage, Lansdowne Road, Grove Hill in Middlesbrough.

Marshall, Frank.

Frank Marshall was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the Yorkshire Regiment.

Serving with the 9th battalion, Private Marshall was killed in actions at Pommereuil near the Forest of Mormal on October 24th 1918.

His grave can be visited today in Cross Roads Cemetery in the village of Fontaine au Bois situated between Le Cateau and Landrecies.

Marshall, George.

George Marshall enlisted in Thornaby into the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 1/6th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Marshall was killed in action aged 25 in an attack on the Butte de Warlencourt on November 5th 1916 during the Somme offensive.

Having no known grave his name is remembered on the panels of the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old Somme battlefields.

George Marshall was the husband of Mrs E Marshall of 96 Milton Street in Middlesbrough.

Marshall, L.

Laurance Herbert Marshall was born in Middlesbrough and educated at Durham University where he gained his BSc and London University where he was a member of the Officer Training Corps from May 1917 until early 1918.

Commissioned into the Royal Engineers, 2nd Lieutenant Marshall was wounded in action on April 1st 1918 and died of his wounds in hospital on April 22nd 1918 at the age of 33.

His grave can be seen today in St Sever Cemetery situated to the south of Rouen city centre.

Laurance Marshall was the son of Frank Herbert and Lucy Harriet Marshall nee Jordison of "Sunnyside" Prestbury in Cheltenham.

Marshall, Robert William.

Born in York, Robert Marshall enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 2nd battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Marshall was killed in action aged 19 at the Battle of Rosieres on March 28th 1918 and with no known grave is remembered on the Pozieres Memorial set along the road from Albert to Bapaume.

Robert Marshall was the son of Sarah Ann Marshall and the late Robert Marshall of 19 Berner Street in Middlesbrough.

Marshall, Thomas Robinson.

Thomas Marshall was born in Middlesbrough on May 28th 1898 and worked as a sheet metal worker before emigrating to Canada.

He lived at Burnell Street in Winnipeg and attested with the Canadian Expeditionary Force on May 1st 1916 joining with the 44th battalion, New Brunswick Regiment.

Private Marshall was wounded in fighting south of the Souchez river and passed through the casualty chain died of his injuries aged 19 on June 6th 1917.

His grave can be visited today in Boulogne Eastern Cemetery situated on the French channel coast.

Thomas Marshall was the only son of John Thomas and Anna Elizabeth Marshall of 115 Harford Street in Middlesbrough.

Martin, Alfred.

Alfred Martin was born at Howden-le-Wear and lived in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the 12th battalion of the Rifle Brigade.

Rifleman Martin was killed in action aged 24 on June 6th 1916 during fighting at the Battle of Mount Sorrel.

His grave today lies in Potijze Burial Ground Cemetery, in the village of Potijze to the north east of Ypres in Belgium.

Martin, Albert Emanuel.

Albert Emmanuel Martin was Middlesbrough born and was a commissioned officer in the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Serving with the 2/4th battalion, 2nd Lieutenant Martin was killed in action aged 25 on September 2nd 1918 during the 2nd Battle of Bapaume.

His grave can be visited today in Gomiecourt South Cemetery in the village of Gomiecourt four miles to the north west of Bapaume.

Albert Martin was the son of John A and Mary Martin of "The Poplars" Poplar Road, Linthorpe in Middlesbrough.

Martin, Ernest.

Middlesbrough born Ernest Martin enlisted in the town for war service with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Wounded in the closing stages of the war, Private Martin passed through the casualty chain to hospital in England where he died of his wounds on November 7th 1918 at the age of 22.

The son of Mr J T and Mrs M A Martin of 36 Stovin Street in North Ormesby, his grave today lies in North Ormesby Cemetery.

Martin, Amos George.

Amos Martin was born in Middlesbrough and served with the Merchant Navy as a cook aboard the SS William Dawson.

He died aged 23 on August 21st 1915 when the William Dawson hit a mine and sank just off the coast from the French port of Boulogne.

His body was recovered and his grave can be seen today in Boulogne Eastern Cemetery on the French channel coast.

Martin, David.

David Martin was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Martin served with the 1st Garrison Battalion, which sailed for India in December of 1915 where he died of war related illness or injury on September 23rd 1918.

His grave since lost, his name is remembered today on the panels of the Karachi 1914-1918 War Memorial situated in the north eastern suburbs of Karachi in Pakistan.

Martin, James.

James Martin was born, lived and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Seaforth Highlanders before transferring to the 6th battalion of the Connaught Rangers. Private Martin was wounded in actions at Guillemont during the Somme offensive and died of his injuries on September 4th 1916.

His grave can be seen today in Heilly Station Cemetery in the village of Mericourt-L'Abbe, six miles south west of Albert on the Somme.

Martin, James.

James Martin was a Royal Navy man serving as a stoker aboard the St Vincent class battleship HMS Vanguard.

He died aged 37 on July 9th 1917 when an explosion it is thought of overheated cordite sank the Vanguard in Scapa Flow with the loss of over 800 lives.

The son of the late Henry and Ellen Martin of Middlesbrough and husband of Julia Martin of 28 Olive Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered today on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

Martin, James.

James Martin was born at Droitwich in Worcestershire, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in Richmond with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Martin was killed in action at the Battle of Loos on September 26th 1915 and having no known grave is remembered today on the Loos Memorial at Dud Corner Cemetery situated along the Lens to Bethune road.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Martin, James L.

Double entry, I believe this to be the man listed above.

Martin, John Edward.

John Edward Martin was a Londoner who lived in Lambeth and enlisted in Southwark into the 6th battalion of the South Lancashire Regiment.

Private Martin was killed in action in Mesopotamia during the 2nd Attack on Sannaiyat on April 9th 1916.

His name is remembered today on the Basra Memorial situated seventeen miles along the road to Nasiriyah in Iraq.

Martin, Mark.

Mark Martin was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Military Medal holder Private Martin was wounded in actions close to Le Cateau and died of his injuries aged 23 on October 17th 1918.

His grave today can be seen in St Sever Cemetery situated two miles south of Rouen city centre.

Martin, William Johnson.

William Joseph Martin was born and lived in South Bank and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Martin was killed in actions between Stirling Castle and Sanctuary Wood on September 20th 1917 aged 19 during the Passchendaele offensive.

The son of Thomas and Kate Martin of 38 Codd Street in South Bank his name is remembered today on the Tyne Cot Memorial set on the slopes of the Passchendaele Ridge.

Marwood, George Henry.

George Marwood was born in Norton near Malton in Yorkshire and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 12th Yorkshires before transferring to the 2/5th battalion of the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regiment.

Private Marwood was killed in action during the Battle of the Selle aged 27 on October 20th 1918.

His grave can be seen today four miles north of Caudry in Quievy Communal Cemetery Extension.

George Marwood was the son of William and Annie Marwood of 4 Worcester Street in Middlesbrough.

Marwood, Harold Robson.

Harold Marwood was born in Norton near Malton but lived and enlisted in Middlesbrough, he was the brother of George listed above.
Serving with the Royal Army Service Corps, Motor Transport, Private Marwood died of illness or injury on October 16th 1918 aged 29.
His grave today lies in the City of Paris Cemetery at Pantin in the north eastern suburbs of Paris on the road to Le Bourget.
William and Annie Marwood of Worcester Street lost two sons within four days of each other.

Mason, Frederick William.

Born at Stanhope in Co Durham, Frederick Mason enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 95th Field Company of the Royal Engineers.
Sapper Mason was killed in action on December 3rd 1916 just as the Somme offensive closed and today lies in Serre Road Cemetery No 1 situated six miles to the north east of Albert on the Somme.

Mason, Henry.

Henry Mason enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 10th battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.
Private Mason was killed in actions in the trenches close to Bethune on November 22nd 1916 at the age of 20.
His grave can be visited today in Cambrin Churchyard Extension, five miles to the east of Bethune.
Henry Mason was the son of Henry and Mary Mason of 3 Rose Street in Middlesbrough.

Mason, Patrick Joseph.

Patrick Mason was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.
Private Mason was killed in an attack on Bayonet and Bite trenches on October 17th 1916 during the Somme offensive.
His grave today lies in Warlencourt British Cemetery situated three miles south west of Bapaume on the Somme.

Mason, William.

Massheder, J W.

Pickering born James William Massheder served with the 17th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Corporal Massheder was killed in action aged 34 on August 15th 1918 during the Battle of Albert.

His grave lies in the village of Neuville St Vaast in La Targette British Cemetery, some four miles to the north of Arras.

James Massheder was the husband of Mrs M H Massheder of "Rosedon" Linthorpe in Middlesbrough.

Massheder, William Henry.

William Massheder was born in Pickering as was James above, I believe the two men were brothers.

William Massheder enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 5th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Massheder died on September 17th 1916 aged just 19 as the battalion were involved in operations between High Wood and Martinpuich during the Somme offensive.

He lies today in Caterpillar Valley Cemetery close to the village of Longueval on the Somme.

Masters, A.

I believe this to be Arthur William Masters who was born at Wells in Somerset where he enlisted into the Somerset Light Infantry before transferring to the 12th battalion of the London Regiment.

Rifleman Masters was killed in action during the Arras offensive at the 1st Battle of the Scarpe on April 9th 1917 aged 22.

His grave today can be seen in London Cemetery in the village of Neuville-Vitasse, three miles south east of Arras.

Matthews, John.

Born in South Bank, John Matthews enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 8th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Matthews died aged 35 on June 15th 1916 while the battalion were holding the line in the Angres sector.

His grave can be visited today in Etaples Military Cemetery situated fifteen miles to the south of Boulogne.

John Matthews was the son of Robert and Harriet Matthews of Oxford Street in South Bank and the husband of Mrs M A Matthews of 18 Lowe Street in Middlesbrough.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Matthews, Lewis.

Lewis Matthews was born at Leeming Bar in North Yorkshire, enlisting in Middlesbrough for war service with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment. Private Matthews was killed in action aged 27 on October 7th 1916, in an attack on the village of La Sars, during the Battle of the Somme. Having no known grave he is remembered today on the Thiepval Memorial to the missing men of the Somme battles.

Matson, William.

Born in North Ormesby and enlisting in Middlesbrough into the Yorkshire Regiment, William Matson then transferred to the 19th battalion of the Lancashire Fusiliers. Private Matson was killed in action during the Somme offensive at the age of 23 on September 22nd 1916 in actions in the Martinsart and Thiepval area. His grave today lies in the AIF Burial Ground situated one mile north of the village of Flers on the Somme. William Matson was the son of Mrs M J Matson and the late Mr H Matson of 33 Myrtle Street in Middlesbrough.

Matson, Thomas Fairbourne.

A joiner before the war, Thomas Matson was North Ormesby born and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 67th Wagon Erecting Company of the Royal Engineers. Sapper Matson was killed in action aged 37 on September 4th 1917, his grave today lying in Calais Southern Cemetery situated along the old main road to Dunkirk.

Maughan, John.

Born in Sunderland, John Maughan worked as a timber carrier on the docks before the war. Private Maughan enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 10th battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in action aged 36 on April 14th 1917 during the 1st Battle of the Scarpe. His body lost his name today can be found on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras. John Maughan was the son of the late Joseph and Eleanor Maughan and the husband of Annie Maughan of 37 Ayresome Street in Middlesbrough.

May, Peter Brown.

I believe this to be Peter May who was born in Aberdeen and enlisted in the city into the 1st battalion of the Gordon Highlanders. Wounded in actions during the Battle of the Canal du Nord, Private May died of his injuries on September 28th 1918. His grave can be seen today in Grevillers British Cemetery, two miles to the west of Bapaume.

Maybray, William Cecil.

Thornaby born William Maybray enlisted in Middlesbrough for service with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Maybray was killed in action aged 20 on May 27th 1918 in fighting on the Craonelle Plateau on the Chemin des Dames Ridge.

His name is remembered today on the panels of the Soissons Memorial situated in the town of Soissons on the left bank of the river Aisne.

William Maybray was the son of John William and Florence Maybray of 20 Kensington Road in Middlesbrough.

Mayhew, Richard.

Richard Mayhew was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the Yorkshire Dragoons before transferring to the 1/4th battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Wounded in actions at the Battle of the Scherpenberg, Private Mayhew died of his wounds on April 30th 1918 at the age of 23.

His grave lies close to the Belgian border in Esquelbecq Military Cemetery, fourteen miles to the north of Hazebrouck.

Mayes, Robert Campbell.

Robert Campbell Mayes was born at Leytonstone in Essex and after service with an officer cadet unit was commissioned into the 1/22nd battalion of the London Regiment, the Queens on June 27th 1917.

2nd Lieutenant Mayes was wounded during the Final Advance in Artois and taken to a casualty centre died of his wounds aged 25 on October 19th 1918.

His grave can be visited today in St Venant Communal Cemetery situated half a mile east of the town of St Venant.

Robert Mayes was the son of Robert Edgar and Lily Mayes and the husband of Elizabeth Isabella Mayes of 68 Fleetham Street in Middlesbrough.

For his actions, 2nd Lieutenant Mayes was posthumously awarded the Military Cross, the citation for which appeared in the London Gazette on January 10th 1919.

"He led his company gallantly and with great skill to the objective in spite of heavy fire of all descriptions.

Later when forced to withdraw owing to the retirement of troops on his flank he handled his men under an intense enfilade and direct machine gun fire with the utmost coolness being himself the last to leave the position.

He set a splendid example to his men."

McAllister, John Bayne.

Middlesbrough born John McAllister enlisted in the town into the 9th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Private McAllister died on July 7th 1916 aged 20 when the battalion were in action between Contalmaison and Mametz Wood during the Somme offensive.

His body lost his name is remembered on the panels of the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme battles.

John McAllister was the son of Sarah and the late John McAllister of 15 Melrose Street in Middlesbrough.

McArdle, Dennis.

Denis McArdle was Gateshead born and enlisted for service in Middlesbrough with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Sergeant McArdle was killed in action aged 32 on September 20th 1916 when the Germans attacked the battalion's line in Prue Trench during the Somme offensive.

He has no known grave and is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old Somme battleground.

McAvoy, Joseph.

Joseph McAvoy was born in Middlesbrough enlisting in the town for war service with the 2nd battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Corporal McAvoy was killed in action on June 3rd 1917 at the age of 23, his grave today lying in Philosophe British Cemetery at Mazingarbe between Lens and Bethune.

Joseph McAvoy was the son of Samuel and Sarah Jane McAvoy of 9 Brook Street in Middlesbrough.

McAvoy, Frank.

South Bank born Frank McAvoy enlisted in Stockton to serve with the 1/5th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private McAvoy was killed in action on July 2nd 1915 aged 26 and his grave can be seen today in Wulverghem-Lindenhoek Road Military Cemetery situated seven miles south of Ypres on the road to Kemmel.

McCabe, Patrick.

Middlesbrough born Patrick McCabe enlisted in the town into the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Lance Corporal McCabe was killed in action on May 27th 1918 during a German attack on the battalion's line on the Craonelle Plateau, part of the Chemin des Dames Ridge.

His body lost his name is remembered today on the Soissons Memorial in the town of Soissons situated north east of Paris on the river Aisne.

McCabe, Peter.

Born in Middlesbrough, Peter McCabe worked as a general labourer before enlisting into the 1st battalion of the Kings Royal Rifle Corps.

Rifleman McCabe was wounded during an attack on the German line at The Bluff, to the south of Ypres and died of his wounds aged 31 on March 10th 1915.

His grave subsequently lost, he is remembered today on the Le Touret Memorial along the Bethune to Armentieres road.

McConkey, Robert.

Robert McConkey was born and enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McConkey was killed in an attack on Cupid Trench in the Arras sector on May 12th 1917 at the age of 25.

Another with no known final resting place, his name is remembered on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

McCarty, Charles.

Charles McCarthy enlisted in his home town of Middlesbrough into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McCarthy was killed in actions close to the village of Roupv on March 22nd 1918 at the age of 30.

The son of the late John and Ellen McCarthy, he is remembered today on the Pozieres Memorial situated on the road from Albert to Bapaume.

McCracken, John James.

Born in Middlesbrough, John McCracken enlisted in the town to serve with the 8th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Wounded in fighting in the Armentieres sector, Private McCracken died of his injuries aged 21 on January 31st 1916.

His grave can be visited today in Bailleul Communal Cemetery Extension situated eight miles south west of Ypres and close to the French border.

John McCracken was the son of William John and Sarah McCracken of 57 Hatherley Street in Middlesbrough.

McCue, Michael.

Michael McCue was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McCue was wounded in action during the Battle of Loos and taken as a prisoner of war died of his wounds in enemy hands on October 6th 1915.

His grave today lies in Niederzwehren Cemetery in Germany, six miles south of Kassel.

John McCune.

John McCune was born in Stockton and enlisted in Middlesbrough with the 5th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McCune was killed in action aged 24 on October 28th 1917 in fighting close to Marsuin Farm during the Passchendaele offensive.

His body lost his name is remembered today on the Tyne Cot Memorial situated on the slopes of the Passchendaele Ridge.

John McCune was the son of Mr and Mrs McCune of 69 Richardson Street in Middlesbrough.

McGurk, T.

Double entry, see Thomas McGurk listed later.

McDonald, Joseph Patrick.

Joseph McDonald was the son of Joseph and Ellen McDonald of Middlesbrough but was born in London and enlisted in the city into the 1st battalion of the Grenadier Guards.

Guardsman McDonald was killed in action aged 31 on April 28th 1916 and today lies in Ypres Reservoir Cemetery situated north west of Ypres town centre.

Joseph McDonald was the husband of Elizabeth Spence, formerly McDonald of 9 Rutland Street in Middlesbrough.

McDonald, John William.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment, Private John William McDonald was killed in action on June 15th 1915 as the battalion suffered heavy losses during the Battle of Givenchy.

Sadly with no known grave, his name is remembered today on the Le Touret Memorial on the south side of the Bethune to Armentieres road.

McDonald, Ronald Graham.

Born at Coatham in Redcar, Ronald Graham McDonald was the son of Robert and Lydia McDonald.

He began his war service as a private soldier in the Duke of Wellington's Regiment before being commissioned into the Worcestershire Regiment on October 21st 1915. By the onset of the Somme offensive Captain McDonald had transferred to the 8th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers and was with the battalion in September of 1916 in action at the Zollern Redoubt where he was awarded the Military Cross.

"For conspicuous gallantry in action. He collected a few men and dug himself in some forty yards from the enemy trench, successfully holding the captured ground in spite of intense fire."

This notice of his award appeared in the London Gazette in November 1916.

Summer 1917 saw the opening of the Passchendaele offensive where Captain McDonald was wounded in action during the Battle of Langemarck, dying of his wounds aged 24 on August 16th 1917.

The husband of Adeline A McDonald of 10 Hazeldene Terrace, Woodlands Road in Middlesbrough, his grave today lies in Brandhoek New Military Cemetery No 3 situated four miles west of Ypres in Belgium.

McDonald, N.

A pre-war regular soldier, Neil McDonald was born in Jarrow and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Serving with the 75th Field Ambulance, Sergeant McDonald was killed in action during the Battles of the Lys on May 1st 1918 at the age of 39.

His grave can be visited today in Lijssenthoek Military Cemetery, seven miles to the west of Ypres in Belgium.

McDonough, Anthony.

Anthony McDonough was born and lived in North Ormesby, enlisting in Middlesbrough into the 8th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McDonough was killed in action aged 25 on July 10th 1916, in a late afternoon attack on the village of Contalmaison, during the Battle of the Somme.

He has no known grave and his name today appears on the panels of the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

McElhatton, Charles.

Born in the St Pauls area of Middlesbrough, Charles McElhatton enlisted in the town into the Royal Dublin Fusiliers before transferring to the 8th battalion of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

Private McElhatton died of wounds at the age of 22 on April 29th 1916 and his grave subsequently lost is remembered on the Loos Memorial at Dud Corner Cemetery on the Bethune to Lens road.

McFarlane, Alexander.

The son of the late Walter and Eleanor McFarlane, Alexander McFarlane was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McFarlane was killed in action in the trenches close to Rouge-Croix on May 14th 1915 aged 30 during the Battle of Festubert.

Having no known grave his name is remembered on the Le Touret Memorial situated along the Bethune to Armentieres road.

Alexander McFarlane was the husband of Susan McFarlane of 80 Stockton Street in Middlesbrough.

McFarlane, Aleck.

Double entry, see Alexander McFarlane listed above.

McFarlane, George Donald.

George Donald McFarlane was born in Middlesbrough on June 16th 1893 and served with the Royal Naval Division as well as the Durham Light Infantry.

His name does not appear on the Commonwealth War Graves Commission listings.

McFarlane, Hector.

Middlesbrough born Hector McFarlane served as an apprentice aboard the Sunderland registered SS Vine Branch.

He perished aged just 16 on April 11th 1917 when the Vine Branch was torpedoed and sank, it's exact whereabouts unknown.

His name is remembered today on the Tower Hill Memorial in Trinity Square, close to the Tower of London.

Hector McFarlane was the son of Alexander McDonald McFarlane and Maria Elizabeth McFarlane of 116 Costa Street in Middlesbrough.

McGann, William.

William McGhan was born in Spennymoor enlisting in Middlesbrough for war service with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McGhan was killed in action during the Gallipoli campaign aged 49 on August 11th 1915 in fighting close to Scimitar Hill.

The son of the late John and Annie McGhan he is remembered on the Helles Memorial on the Gallipoli peninsula.

McGarrell, James.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, James McGarrell did his war service with the 79th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery.

Driver McGarrell died of illness or injury at home on December 29th 1918 aged 27, six weeks after the armistice.

The son of James and Annie McGarrell of 8 Cecil Street in Middlesbrough his grave today lies in St Josephs Roman Catholic Cemetery in North Ormesby.

McGeachy, William.

William McGeachy was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town for service with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McGeachy was killed in actions against the German line at the village of Sailly-Saillisel on February 8th 1917.

His grave can be visited today close to where he fell in Sailly-Saillisel British Cemetery, six miles to the south of Bapaume.

McGee, Henry.

Royal Navy man Henry McGee served as a stoker aboard HMS Black Prince.

He lost his life on May 31st 1916 when the Black Prince found herself separated from the British fleet and fired on by the Thuringhen and other German warships sank within fifteen minutes during the Battle of Jutland.

Henry McGee has his name remembered today on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

McGee, Frank.

Frank McGee was born in Glasgow, lived in Port Clarence and enlisted in Middlesbrough with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McGee served in the Gallipoli campaign and died of wounds or sickness on a hospital ship at sea on November 25th 1915 aged 22.

Buried at sea, his name is remembered today on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

Frank McGee was the son of Mr and Mrs John McGee of 7 Church Street in Port Clarence.

McGlade, T.

McGrady, Thomas.

Middlesbrough born Thomas McGrady enlisted in the town for war service with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McGrady was killed in action during the Battle of Neuve Chapelle on March 12th 1915.

His body lost his name is remembered on the Le Touret Memorial situated on the south side of the road between Armentieres and Bethune.

McGrail, Martin.

Royal Navy man Martin McGrail was born in Middlesbrough and served as a stoker aboard HMS Lynx.

He perished on August 9th 1915 aged 22 when Lynx was torpedoed and sank off the north east coast of Scotland.

Martin McGrail was the son of John and the late Catherine McGrail of 11 Thomas Street in Middlesbrough and is remembered today on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

McGrail, Patrick.

Patrick McGrail was born in Stockton and enlisted in Middlesbrough for service with the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Private McGrail died in transit and was buried at sea on June 19th 1918, no details of the location or the ship being available.

His name is remembered today on the Hollybrook Memorial in Southampton's Hollybrook Cemetery.

McGrath, James.

Middlesbrough man James McGrath did his war service with the 1st battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private McGrath was part of the occupying garrison in Germany when he died aged 29 on March 15th 1920.

His grave can be seen today in Cologne Southern Cemetery situated three miles south of Cologne city centre.

James McGrath was the son of Mrs Ellen McGrath of 66 Prince Charles Street in Middlesbrough.

McGrath, Samuel George.

Born in Sunderland, Samuel McGrath worked as a labourer in the steelworks before the onset of war.

Enlisting in Middlesbrough, Private McGrath served with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in action aged 33 on April 22nd 1917 in fighting close to Monchy le Preux during the Battles of Arras.

He has no known grave and is remembered on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

McGrath, S.

Double entry, see Samuel George McGrath listed above.

McGrother, James.

James McGrother was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the 1st battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Corporal McGrother died of illness or injury at home on November 27th 1914 at the age of 29.

The son of the late John and Emily Jane McGrother he is buried in North Ormesby's St Josephs Roman Catholic Cemetery.

McGrother, John.

Middlesbrough born John McGrother enlisted in the town into the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Lance Corporal McGrother was killed in action on July 10th 1916 in a late afternoon attack on the village of Contalmaison during the Somme offensive.

Having no known grave he is remembered today on the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old Somme battleground.

McGurk, Thomas.

Thomas McGurk was born in Port Clarence and lived in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the 21st battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Wounded in action, Private McGurk died of his injuries on June 8th 1918.

His grave today lies in Pernes British Cemetery on the main road from St Pol to Lillers.

McHale, P.

Patrick McHale was born in South Bank and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Royal Army Service Corps before transferring to the 3rd battalion of the Machine Gun Corps.

Private McHale was killed in action aged 20 on March 25th 1918 during the 1st Battle of the Somme.

His grave can be visited today in Wailly Orchard Cemetery in the village of Wailly, four miles south west of Arras.

McHugh, Michael.

Middlesbrough born Michael McHugh served in the Royal Navy as a stoker aboard HMS Cressy.

He perished on September 22nd 1914 aged 22 when Cressy on a North Sea patrol was torpedoed off the Dutch coast.

The son of Mary Ann and the late Bernard McHugh of 13 Garbutt Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

McKagney, Thomas.

Born and living in Middlesbrough, Thomas McKagney enlisted in Stockton into the 2nd battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private McKagney was killed in action on August 9th 1915 aged 27 during fighting close to Hooze to the east of Ypres.

He has no known final resting place and is remembered on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

McKee, William.

Born at Tyrone in Co Tyrone, William McKee enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 7th battalion of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

Private McKee was killed in action on August 16th 1917 aged 37 at the Battle of Langemarck during the Passchendaele offensive and is remembered today on the Tyne Cot Memorial to the north east of Ypres.

William McKee was the son of the late Jeremiah and Sarah McKee of Tyrone and the husband of Elizabeth McKee of 48 Spencer Street in Middlesbrough.

McKenna, Joseph W.

Joseph McKenna was born at Strabane in Ireland and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McKenna was killed in action on September 29th 1918 during a 3-00pm attack on the village of Epinoy.

His grave can be seen today in Chapel Corner Cemetery in the village of Sauchy-Lestree on the Arras to Cambrai road.

McKernan, J.

I believe this to be John McKirgan who was born in Ballymena in Co Antrim and enlisted in Middlesbrough joining the 24th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers, the Tyneside Irish.

Private McKirgan was killed in action on November 19th 1916 aged 25 and is buried in Bailleul Communal Cemetery Extension in northern France.

He was the son of James and Jane McKirgan of 46 Upper Branch Street in South Bank.

McLane, Ernest.

Ernest McLane was born in North Ormesby, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in Hartlepool into the 13th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Wounded in actions in the Armentieres sector, Private McLane died of his wounds on November 5th 1915 at the age of 20.

His grave can be visited today in Erquinghem-Lys Churchyard Extension, one mile to the west of Armentieres.

Ernest McLane was the son of George and Elizabeth McLane of 27 Carlton Street in Middlesbrough.

McLane, Wilfred.

Born and living in Middlesbrough, Wilfred Howard McLane enlisted in Hartlepool to serve with the 12th battalion of the Highland Light Infantry.

Private McLane was killed in action on September 25th 1915 at the Battle of Loos and today lies in St Marys ADS Cemetery at Haisnes between Lens and La Bassee.

McLeod, Donald.

Donald McLeod lived in Middlesbrough enlisting in the town into the Royal Garrison Artillery before transferring to the 466th Battery, 65th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery.

Wounded in action during the Passchendaele offensive, Gunner McLeod died of his injuries on October 6th 1917.

Today his grave lies in Dozinghem Military Cemetery near Krombeke to the north west of Poperinghe in Belgium.

McLaren, W.

I believe this to be John William McLaren who was born in Scarborough and enlisted in Hull into the 17th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Wounded during the Battle of Bazentin, Somme offensive, Private McLaren died of his wounds aged 28 on July 15th 1916.

The husband of Mary McLaren of 10 Church Street in Seaton Carew, his grave lies in Bouzincourt Communal Cemetery Extension situated two miles north west of Albert.

McLaren, George William.

George McLaren enlisted in his hometown of Middlesbrough for war service with the 13th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Corporal McLaren was killed in action aged 21 on April 14th 1917 at the 1st Battle of the Scarpe, Arras offensive.

His grave can be visited today in Wancourt British Cemetery situated five miles south east of Arras.

George McLaren was the son of Mr and Mrs Thomas Storrow McLaren of 7 Oak Street in Cargo Fleet.

McLaren, Jack.

Merchant seaman John McLaren was born in North Ormesby and served as a 2nd Cook on the SS Treverbyn.

He died aged 31 on September 3rd 1917 when the Treverbyn hit a mine and sank two miles south east of South Uist.

John McLaren was the son of Rebecca and the late Thomas McLaren and husband of Mary Jane McLaren, nee Pack of 15 Cromer Street in Middlesbrough.

His name is remembered today on the Tower Hill Memorial in Trinity Square in London.

McManus, George.

George McManus was Middlesbrough born and before the war worked as a blacksmith's striker.

Private McManus served with the Yorkshire Regiment and died at home on June 18th 1918 aged 54, his grave today lying in Linthorpe Cemetery.

George McManus was the husband of Mrs S A Taylor, formerly McManus of 72 Pelham Street in Middlesbrough.

McManus, E.

Born in Middlesbrough, Edward McManus enlisted in the town into the 1/5th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private McManus was killed in an attack on the village of Martinpuich on September 15th 1916 aged 29 during the Battle of the Somme.

Another with no known final resting place he is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial on the Somme.

McManus, Thomas Samuel.

Thomas McManus was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McManus was killed in actions at Bodmin Copse on August 1st 1917 aged 27 during the Passchendaele offensive.

Thomas McManus was the son of the late Terence and Sarah McManus and the husband of Rosetta Amelia McManus of 31 Chestnut Walk in Watford.

Having no known grave he is remembered on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

McMullen, Joseph.

Born and living in Middlesbrough, Joseph McMullen enlisted in Barnard Castle into the 13th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private McMullen was killed in action on March 20th 1916 and today lies in Bully-Grenay Communal Cemetery French Extension situated twelve miles north of Arras.

McMullen, Thomas.

I believe this to be Thomas Martin McMullen, a Lancashire man who served with the 1st battalion of the Border Regiment.

Private McMullen was killed in action aged 34 on November 20th 1917 during the tank attack at the Battle of Cambrai.

He has no known grave and is remembered today on the Cambrai Memorial, in the village of Louverval on the north side of the Bapaume to Cambrai road.

Thomas McMullen was the son of Thomas Henry and Mary McMullen of 13 Blucher Street in Colne, Lancashire.

McNally, Joseph.

Joseph McNally was born in Jarrow and lived in Middlesbrough working as a labourer in the rolling mills before the war.

Enlisting in Middlesbrough to serve with the 8th battalion of the Royal Munster Fusiliers, Private McNally was killed in action aged 34 on September 9th 1916 in fighting at the village of Ginchy, during the Battle of the Somme.

Sadly another with no known grave his name is remembered today on the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme battles.

McNamara, John.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, John McNamara served with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in action on June 15th 1915 at the Battle of Givenchy.

Private McNamara's grave can be visited today in Cabaret Rouge British Cemetery at Souchez, two miles north of Arras.

McNamara, Joseph.

Royal Navy man Joseph McNamara was Middlesbrough born and served as a stoker aboard HMS Natal.

He died aged just 18 on December 30th 1915 when with HMS Natal lying in the Cromarty Firth, several internal explosions tore through the vessel sinking her at 3-30pm, no cause of the tragedy was ever found.

Joseph McNamara was the son of Joseph and Elizabeth McNamara of Middlesbrough and his name is remembered today on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

McNamara, Thomas.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Thomas Edward McNamara served with the 12th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Corporal McNamara was killed in action aged 28 on June 22nd 1916 during the build up to the Somme offensive, his grave lying in Dartmoor Cemetery in the village of Becordel-Becourt to the south east of Albert.

Thomas McNamara was the husband of Mrs M E McNamara of 29 Marshall Street in Middlesbrough.

McNamara, T E.

Double entry, see Thomas McNamara listed above.

McNamee, P.

Patrick McNamee was living in Middlesbrough when he enlisted in West Hartlepool for service with the 2nd battalion of the Irish Guards.

Aged 27, Private McNamee was killed in action during the Battle of Loos on September 30th 1915 and his body lost is remembered today on the Loos Memorial at Dud Corner Cemetery on the Bethune to Lens road.

Patrick McNamee was the son of the late John and May McNamee.

McNancy, John.

An incorrect spelling, John McNaney was born in Marske and before the war worked as a blacksmith's striker.

He enlisted in South Bank into the Royal Field Artillery seeing service overseas but died at home of malaria on December 16th 1918 aged 38.

The son of the late James and Catherine McNaney, his grave today lies in St Germain's Churchyard in Marske.

John McNaney was the husband of Mrs Maria McNaney of 3 Lilac Road in Eaglescliffe.

McPherson, Alexander.

McPhie, W.

Born at Normanton in Yorkshire, William McPhie lived in Hutton Rudby and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Lance Corporal McPhie was killed in actions in the Bois Grenier sector on January 26th 1916.

His grave can be visited today in Brewery Orchard Cemetery in the village of Bois Grenier, two miles south of Armentieres.

McPhill, William.

Double entry, see William McPhie listed above.

McQuade, J.

Born in Jarrow, John McQuade lived in Middlesbrough working as a blastfurnaceman before hostilities.

Enlisting in Middlesbrough into the Durham Light Infantry he then transferred to the 2nd battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Private McQuade was killed in action at the age of 40 on December 20th 1915 and today lies in Carnoy Military Cemetery situated six miles south east of Albert.

John McQuade was the son of the late Michael and Hannah McQuade and the husband of Mrs Jane Ann McQuade of 63 Arthur Street in Middlesbrough.

McQuire, J.

I believe this to be John McGuire who was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McGuire was killed in action on Gallipoli on August 22nd 1915 in an attack on the Turkish line at Ismail Oglu Tepe and having no known grave is remembered on the Helles Memorial on the Gallipoli peninsula.

McQueen, John William.

An incorrect spelling, John William McQuen was born in Middlesbrough enlisting in the town for service with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McQuen was killed in action in an attack towards the south of the village of Guillemont during the Somme offensive on July 23rd 1916.

Another with no known final resting place, his name is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old Somme battlefields.

McQueen, Peter.

Born in Stockton and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Peter McQueen did his war service with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McQueen was killed in action during the Gallipoli campaign on August 22nd 1915 aged 23 in fighting at Ismail Oglu Tepe.

His body lost, his name appears on the panels of the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

Peter McQueen was the son of William and Margaret McQueen and the husband of Florence L Shepherd, formerly McQueen of 56 Bishopton Road, Grove Hill in Middlesbrough.

McShane, James.

James McShane was born in Stockton but lived in Huddersfield where he enlisted into the Kings Liverpool Regiment.

Private McShane was killed in action aged 33 on April 27th 1915 at the Battle of St Julien during the 2nd Battles of Ypres.

Having no known grave his name is remembered on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

James McShane was the husband of Sarah Elisabeth Marshall, formerly McShane of 4 Loves Yard, High Street in Huddersfield.

McTierman, John.

An incorrect spelling, John McTiernan was born in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the 17th battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Private McTiernan was killed in fighting during the Battle of Hazebrouck on April 14th 1918 aged just 18.

His grave can be visited in Outtersteene Communal Cemetery Extension situated three miles south west of Bailleul.

John McTiernan was the son of James and Sarah Ann McTiernan of 28 Errol Street in Middlesbrough.

Meaney, Henry.

Henry Meaney was born and lived in Middlesbrough enlisting in the town into the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 11th battalion of the Royal Fusiliers.

Private Meaney was wounded in actions close to Epehy and died of his wounds on September 26th 1918 at the age of 26.

His grave can be seen in Mont Huon Military Cemetery at Le Treport, fourteen miles north east of Dieppe on the French channel coast.

Meads, Albert Edward.

Middlesbrough born Albert Meads enlisted into the Durham Light Infantry in the town and died at home aged 30 on February 9th 1917 of war related illness or injury. Albert Meads is buried in the town's Linthorpe Cemetery.

Mealing, A.

Arthur Mealing was born in Marske and before the war worked as a labourer in a brickyard.

He enlisted in Middlesbrough into the West Yorkshire Regiment and then transferred to the 18th battalion of the York and Lancaster Regiment.

Private Mealing was wounded during the 1918 Battle of Ypres and died of his injuries aged 43 on October 12th 1918.

His grave today lies in La Kreule Military Cemetery in the small village of La Kreule situated one mile north of Hazebrouck.

Meggison, Harry.

Harry Meggison was Middlesbrough born and is shown on the 1901 census as working as an errand boy in the town.

He later emigrated to Australia working as a labourer and living at 6 Glenmore Terrace in Sydney.

Harry Meggison enlisted into the 2nd Australian Infantry on September 18th 1915 and sailed from Sydney on December 30th 1915 aboard HMAT Aeneas.

Private Meggison was killed in action on June 18th 1916 aged 30 and his grave can be seen today in Y Farm Military Cemetery at Bois Grenier, three miles south of Armentieres.

He was the son of Mrs M Strickland of 44 Victoria Road in Middlesbrough.

Melia, John.

Able Seaman John Melia served with the Howe battalion of the Royal Naval Division and was killed in action during the Gallipoli campaign at the 3rd Battle of Krithia on June 6th 1915.

His body lost his name is remembered on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

John Melia's parents lived in Duncombe Street in Middlesbrough.

Melia, Patrick Francis.

Patrick Melia was born at Wednesbury in Staffordshire, lived in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town into the 18th battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Wounded in fighting close to Bethune, Private Melia died of his wounds on August 22nd 1916 at the age of 21.

His grave lies in Calais Southern Cemetery situated along the old main road from Calais to Dunkirk.

Patrick Melia was the son of Thomas and Mary Melia of 47 High Feversham Street in Middlesbrough.

Mellanby, Ernest William.

Middlesbrough born Ernest Mellanby enlisted for his war service in the town with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mellanby was killed in actions in the Armentieres sector aged 21 on September 19th 1915.

His grave can be seen today in La Chapelle D'Armentieres Communal Cemetery situated on the eastern side of the village of La Chapelle D'Armentieres.

Ernest Mellanby was the youngest son of the late Charles William and Mary Elizabeth Mellanby of Middlesbrough.

Mellon, P.

I believe this to be James Mellon who was born in Port Clarence where he enlisted into the 9th battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Private Mellon was killed in action on March 22nd 1918 aged 23 during the Battle of St Quentin and having no known grave is remembered on the Pozieres Memorial situated along the road from Albert to Bapaume.

James Mellon was the son of the late Neal and Margaret Mellon.

Mewse, William Harold.

William Mewse was born in Great Yarmouth and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Teesside Pioneers, the 12th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 9th battalion of the North Staffordshire Regiment.

Wounded during the Battle of the Ancre, Private Mewse died of his wounds aged 19 on May 19th 1918.

His grave can be visited today in St Sever Cemetery Extension situated two miles south of Rouen city centre.

William Mewse was the son of William and Florence Mewse of 24 Disraeli Street, Newport in Middlesbrough.

Meynell, John William.

Middlesbrough born John Meynell enlisted in the town into the Northumberland Fusiliers and then transferred to the 1/5th battalion of the York and Lancaster Regiment.

Private Meynell was killed in action on October 18th 1918 during the Battle of the Selle at the age of 19.

With no known final resting place his name appears on the panels of the Vis-En-Artois Memorial six miles south east of Arras on the road to Cambrai.

Milburn, Robert Norman.

Robert Milburn was born in Sunderland but is shown on the 1901 census as living in Eston.

He served as a private soldier with the Yorkshire Regiment rising to the rank of sergeant before being commissioned into the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry on December 18th 1917.

2nd Lieutenant Robert Norman Milburn was killed in action with the 2/9th battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry during the Battle of the Aisne on July 20th 1918 at the age of 24.

His body lost his name is remembered on the Soissons Memorial in the town of Soissons to the north east of Paris.

Mildred, Vivian L.

Vivian Leopold Mildred was born in Middlesbrough and before the war worked as a shipping clerk.

He enlisted in York with the Yorkshire Hussars and was posted to Ireland where they did their war service.

Squadron Quartermaster Sergeant Mildred perished on October 10th 1918 aged 34 when leaving Dublin for Holyhead the RMS Leinster was hit by two torpedoes and sank seven miles south east of the Kish lightship.

The son of Mrs C A Mildred of 49 Oxford Road in Middlesbrough his name is remembered today on the Hollybrook Memorial in Southampton's Hollybrook Cemetery.

Miller, Albert Guy.

Correct name Albert Jay Miller was born in South Shields and enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Teesside Pioneers, the 12th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Miller was killed in fighting at Strazeele during the Battles of the Lys on April 11th 1918 aged 29.

Having no known grave he is remembered on the Ploegsteert Memorial to the south of Ypres on the road to Armentieres.

Miller, Albert James.

Double entry, see Albert Jay Miller listed above.

Miller, C.

Double entry, see Charles William Miller listed below.

Miller, Charles William.

Born in Middlesbrough, Charles Miller enlisted in the town for war service with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Miller was killed in action at the Battle of St Julien on April 25th 1915 at the age of 20 and with no known grave is remembered today on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

Miller, Robert.

I believe this to be Robert Miller who was born at Pormoak in Kinross and lived in Bedale in North Yorkshire where he enlisted into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Miller was killed in actions east of Neuville-Vitasse during the Arras offensive on April 9th 1917 at the age of 36.

His grave can be visited today in Neuville-Vitasse Road Cemetery situated five miles south east of Arras.

Robert Miller was the husband of Ethel Miller of Little Crakehall in Bedale.

Milligan, James.

I believe this to be Private J Mulligan of the 4th battalion West Yorkshire Regiment. He died at home on July 20th 1916 and today lies in Stranton Cemetery in Hartlepool.

Millington, John.

Born and living in Thornaby, John Millington enlisted in Stockton to serve with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Millington was killed in actions close to Wancourt during the Arras offensive on April 23rd 1917 at the age of 20.

Today his grave lies in Wancourt British Cemetery in the village of Wancourt, five miles south east of Arras.

John Millington was the son of Joseph and Kate Millington of Thornaby.

Mills, Alexander.

Alexander Mills was born in North Ormesby and before the war followed his trade as a painter.

Enlisting in Middlesbrough into the 1/9th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry, Private Mills was killed in action at the Battle of Tardenois aged 36 on July 21st 1918. His grave can be visited today in Courmas British Cemetery in the village of Courmas situated six miles south west of Reims.

Alexander Mills was the son of John and Jane Ann Mills of 75 Abingdon Road in Middlesbrough.

Mills, C C.

Born and living in North Ormesby, Charles Mills enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Yorkshire Regiment and then transferred to the Army Service Corps attached to the 15th Field Ambulance of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Driver Mills was killed in action during the Battle of the Somme on August 31st 1916 at the age of 23.

His grave today lies in Bronfay Farm Military Cemetery, two miles north east of the village of Bray-Sur-Somme.

Charles Mills was the son of Joseph Mills of 8 Alphonsus Street in North Ormesby.

Mills, Harold.

Harold Mills was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town for service with the Royal Fusiliers.

Private Mills was killed in action aged just 19 on March 25th 1918 and with no known grave is remembered on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

Harold Mills was the son of Mrs Hetty Train, formerly Mills of 91 Waterloo Road in Middlesbrough and the late Thomas Mills.

Mills, Hudson.

This man is actually Miles Hudson who was born at Ridlington in Norfolk and initially served with the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers before transferring to the 7th Company of the Machine Gun Corps.

Private Hudson was killed in action aged 20 on August 26th 1916 during the Somme offensive and with no known grave is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial on the Somme.

He was the son of George and Sarah Hudson of 52 Pearson Street in North Ormesby.

Mills, Joseph.

Joseph Mills was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 15th battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mills was killed in action on March 27th 1918 during the 1st Battle of Bapaume and his body lost is remembered today on the Arras Memorial at the Faubourg D'Amiens Cemetery in Arras.

Mills, Robert Ernest.

Robert Mills, brother of Harold listed above was born and lived in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the 18th Queen Marys Own Royal Hussars.

Private Mills was killed in action aged 21 on May 24th 1915 during the Battle of Bellewaarde and having no known grave is remembered today on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

Robert Mills was the second son of Mrs Hetty Train and the late Thomas Mills to lay down his life.

Mills, Samuel.

Samuel Arthur Mills was born in Middlesbrough and before the war worked as a commercial clerk.

Enlisting in Manchester into the Royal Field Artillery, Military Medal holder Gunner Mills was wounded in actions during the German Spring Offensive and died of his wounds aged 31 on April 18th 1918.

His grave today lies in Mendinghem Military Cemetery situated to the west of Ypres on the road to Poperinghe.

Samuel Mills was the son of James and Ellen Mills and the husband of Elizabeth Mills of North Puyallup, Washington, USA.

Milne, Norman.

Born and living in Hartlepool, Norman Milne enlisted in the town into the 13th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Milne was killed in action on June 2nd 1917 aged 22 during the build up phase to the Battle of Messines.

His grave can be visited today in Railway Dugouts Burial Ground situated one mile south east of Ypres town centre.

Mitchell, Edwin.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Edwin Mitchell served with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Military Medal holder Private Mitchell was killed in action aged 26 in fighting close to St Julien during the Passchendaele offensive on August 29th 1917.

His body lost his name is remembered today on the Tyne Cot Memorial set on the slopes of the Passchendaele ridge.

Edwin Mitchell was the son of William and Rosa Mitchell and the husband of Frances May Evison, formerly Mitchell of 4 Dene Road, Grove Hill in Middlesbrough.

Mitchell, Albert.

Albert Mitchell was born in Stockton and lived in North Ormesby enlisting in Middlesbrough to serve with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mitchell was killed in actions at The Bluff to the south east of Ypres on March 1st 1916, his grave today lying in Maple Copse Cemetery at Zillebeke, three miles south east of Ypres in Belgium.

Mitchell, Andrew.

I believe this to be Private T A Mitchell who did his war service with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

The husband of Mary Ash, formerly Mitchell of 72 Prince Charles Street in Middlesbrough he is buried in Linthorpe Cemetery.

Mitchell, E.

Double entry, see Edwin Mitchell listed above.

Mitchell, John Robert.

John Mitchell was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town to serve with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mitchell was killed in action on August 7th 1915 aged 28 as the battalion attacked the Turkish line at Lala Baba hill.

Having no known grave his name is remembered today on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

John Mitchell was the son of Isabella and the late William Mitchell and the husband of Jennie Mitchell of 11 Davison Street in Middlesbrough.

Mitchell, Tom.

I believe this to be Thomas Mitchell who lived in Leeds and enlisted in the city into the 1/6th battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mitchell was killed in actions during the 2nd Battle of Kemmel on April 25th 1918.

Another with no known final resting place, his name is remembered on the panels of the Tyne Cot Memorial to the north east of Ypres in Belgium.

Mizon, W.

Walter Mizon was born at Gainsford in Suffolk and before the war worked as a porter at a local drapers.

He lived in North Ormesby and enlisted in Ferryhill for service with the 20th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Mizon was wounded during operations on the Flanders coast and died of his wounds on September 2nd 1917 at the age of 35.

His grave can be seen today in Godewaersvelde British Cemetery, a village close to the Belgian border between Poperinghe and Hazebrouck.

Walter Mizon was the husband of Florence Emily Mizon of 46 Nelson Street in North Ormesby.

Mohan, Robert.

Molineux, William Hy.

Molyneux, H.

Harold Molineux was Stockton born and enlisted in Middlesbrough for service with the 40th Field Ambulance of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Private Molineux was wounded in actions at Sannaiyat during the Mesopotamia campaign and died of his wounds aged 24 on April 11th 1916.

His grave lost, his name is remembered today on the Basra Memorial situated along the road to Nasiriyah in Iraq.

Molley, Peter Joseph.

Born in West Hartlepool, Peter Molloy enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 20th Divisional Ammunition Column of the Royal Field Artillery.

Wounded in actions close to Ypres in Belgium, Gunner Molloy died of his wounds on June 19th 1916 at the age of 21.

His grave can be seen today in Lijssenthoek Military Cemetery situated seven miles to the west of Ypres.

Peter Molloy was the son of Patrick and the late Susan Molloy of Middle Darkley, Keady in Co Armagh.

Monks, James Henry.

Born and living in Middlesbrough, James Henry Monks worked as a general labourer before the onset of war.

Enlisting in Stockton into the 15th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry, Sergeant Monks was wounded during the Battle of Loos and died of his injuries aged 32 on September 27th 1915.

His grave can be visited today in Noeux-les-Mines Communal Cemetery situated four miles south of Bethune on the road to Arras.

James Monks was the son of George and Marjory Monks of Middlesbrough.

Montague, Frank.

Born in Thornaby, Frank Montague worked as a postman before enlisting in Middlesbrough to serve with the Royal Field Artillery.

Military Medal holder Bombadier Montague was killed in action on May 2nd 1917 at the 3rd Battle of the Scarpe, part of the Arras offensive.

Today his grave lies in Athies Communal Cemetery Extension in the village of Athies, three miles east of Arras.

Moody, Fred.

I believe this to be Battery Quartermaster Sergeant F Moody who served in India with the 60th Battery of the Royal Field Artillery.

He died on July 1st 1918 and is buried in Lucknow Cantonment Military Cemetery with his name remembered on the Madras 1914-1918 War Memorial at Chennai, eight miles from the centre of Madras in India.

Mooney, Bernard.

Bernard Mooney was South Bank born and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mooney was killed in action aged 20 on July 30th 1916 in fighting at Guillemont during the Battle of the Somme.

His grave can be visited today in Citadel New Military Cemetery situated south of the village of Fricourt on the road to Bray-sur-Somme.

Moore, George.

George Moore was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town to serve with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Moore was wounded in action close to Sanctuary Wood during the Passchendaele offensive and died of his wounds on September 20th 1917 aged 21. He has no known grave and is remembered today on the Tyne Cot Memorial set on the slopes of the Passchendaele ridge.

George Moore was the son of Margaret Ann and the late John Moore of Middlesbrough.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Moore, Joseph Edward.

Joseph Edward Moore was born in Middlesbrough in June 1892 and served with the 4th Central Ontario Regiment of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Private Moore was killed in action on October 1st 1918 aged 26 during the capture of the village of Sancourt.

His grave today lies close to where he fell in Sancourt British Cemetery situated three miles north west of Cambrai.

Moore, William George.

Merchant seaman William George Moore served as Mate aboard the London registered SS Acton.

He lost his life on March 21st 1917 and is remembered on the Tower Hill Memorial at Trinity Square in London.

William Moore was the husband of Mrs Moore of 47 Aire Street in Middlesbrough.

Moorhead, John.

John Moorhead served with the Portsmouth battalion of the Royal Naval Division, the sailors who fought as soldiers.

Private Moorhead died on May 6th 1915 during the 2nd Battle of Krithia and having no known grave is remembered on the Helles Memorial situated at the southern tip of the Gallipoli peninsula.

Moran, J J.

Double entry, see James Joseph Morgan listed below.

Morgan, Ancel.

Born in South Bank, Ancel Morgan enlisted in Middlesbrough with the cavalry before transferring to the 2nd battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Private Morgan died as a result of illness or accident on June 17th 1916 aged 23.

His grave today lies in Abbeville Communal Cemetery on the main road from Paris to Boulogne.

Morgan, Henry.

Born in the Newport area of the town, Henry Morgan enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Hussars before transferring to the Dorsetshire Regiment.

Private Morgan was killed in action during the campaign in the Balkans on December 7th 1915 aged just 19.

The son of William Thomas Morgan and Jane Morgan of Middlesbrough, his name is remembered today on the Doiran Memorial in northern Greece.

Morgan, Frederick.

Morgan, James.

James Vincent Morgan was born in Rotherham, lived in South Bank and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.
Private Morgan was killed in action aged 27 on July 9th 1916 during the Somme offensive as the battalion attacked Quadrangle Support close to Mametz Wood. His grave can be visited today in Fricourt British Cemetery situated three miles to the east of Albert.

Morgan, James Joseph.

James Joseph Morgan was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.
Private Morgan was wounded in fighting at the village of Sailly-Saillisel and died of his wounds aged 24 on February 11th 1917.
His grave today lies in Grove Town Cemetery in the village of Meaulte between Albert and Bray-sur-Somme.
James Morgan was the son of James and Catherine Morgan of 23 Back Nile Street in Middlesbrough.

Morgan, Edward.

Double entry, I believe this to be Edwin Morgan listed below.

Morgan, Edwin.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Edwin Morgan did his war service with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.
Private Morgan was killed in actions close to Armagh Wood on January 6th 1916 at the age of 20.
His grave can be seen three miles south east of Ypres town centre in Maple Copse Cemetery.
Edwin Morgan was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Morgan of 46 Suffield Street in Middlesbrough.

Morgan, Oswald.

Oswald Morgan was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town with the Teesside Pioneers, the 12th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.
Private Morgan was killed in fighting close to Strazeele on April 11th 1918 aged 20 during the Battles of the Lys.
His grave today lies in Croix-du-Bac British Cemetery situated two miles south of Steenwerck.

Morgan, Owen Osmond.

Owen Morgan was born in Middlesbrough and served with the Machine Gun Corps attached to the 63rd Royal Naval Division.

Wounded in actions during the German spring offensive, Private Morgan died of his injuries on March 16th 1918 at the age of 20.

He lies today in St Sever Cemetery Extension, two miles south of Rouen city centre. Owen Morgan was the son of John Herbert and Marianne Morgan of Breconcroft, Linthorpe in Middlesbrough.

Morgan, Walter.

Born in Stockton, Walter Morgan enlisted in Hartlepool to serve with "C" Battery, 50th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery.

Driver Morgan was wounded during the 3rd Battle of the Scarpe, Arras offensive and died of his wounds on May 2nd 1917 at the age of 29.

Today his grave can be seen in Duisans British Cemetery at Etrun, five miles to the west of Arras.

Walter Morgan was the son of John William Morgan of Hartlepool.

Morgan, William Henry.

Enlisting in Middlesbrough, William Morgan did his war service with the 2/5th battalion of the Duke of Wellington's West Riding Regiment.

Corporal Morgan was killed in action during the 2nd Battle of Bapaume on August 27th 1918 and today lies in Mory Abbey Military Cemetery in the village of Mory between Arras and Bapaume.

William Morgan was the son of Mr T Morgan of 29 Jameson Street in Middlesbrough.

Morgan, William Herbert.

Being born in Middlesbrough and enlisting in Aldershot, William Herbert Morgan served with the 17th battalion of the Middlesex Regiment.

Private Morgan was killed in action aged 22 on July 28th 1916 in the front line at Delville Wood during the Battle of the Somme.

With no known final resting place he is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme battles.

The son of John Herbert and Marianne Morgan of Breconcroft in Middlesbrough he was the brother of Owen Osmond Morgan listed earlier.

Morley, George.

George Morley was born in Guisborough and enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 109th Company of the Machine Gun Corps.

Private Morley was killed in action during the Battle of Cambrai on December 6th 1917 and having no known grave is remembered on the Cambrai Memorial in the village of Louverval, seven miles north east of Bapaume.

Morley, Edward Carrol.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Edward Carroll Morley did his war service with the 2nd battalion of the Grenadier Guards.

Guardsman Morley was wounded in action and taken to a casualty centre died of his wounds on February 14th 1916.

His grave today lies in Merville Communal Cemetery in the town of Merville, eight miles north of Bethune.

Morren, John James.

John Morren was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town to serve with the 1/5th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Morren was wounded in action at the Battle of Flers-Courcelette during the Somme offensive and died of his injuries on September 17th 1916.

His grave can be seen today in Heilly Station Cemetery in the village of Mericourt L'Abbe to the south west of Albert.

John Morren was the son of Margaret Hannah Morren and the late Arthur Edward Morren of 5 Danby Place, Richmond Street in Middlesbrough.

Morris, Herbert.

Morris, Ebenezer.

Middlesbrough born Ebenezer Morris enlisted in the town to serve with the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Morris was killed in action aged 23 on July 1st 1916 as the battalion attacked the village of Montauban on the first day of the Somme offensive.

With no known grave his name is remembered on the panels of the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old Somme battlefields.

Morrison, Donald.

Donald Morrison was born in Middlesbrough and served as an Able Seaman with the Anson battalion of the Royal Naval Division.

He died of wounds or illness on September 22nd 1915 aged 20 during the campaign on Gallipoli and was buried at sea.

The son of James and Ellen Morrison of 15 Clyde Street in Middlesbrough his name appears on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Morrison, George.

George Morrison was born at Scunthorpe in Lincolnshire and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the 2nd battalion of the Durham Light Infantry. Sergeant Morrison was wounded during the Arras offensive and died of his wounds on April 6th 1917 at the age of 24.

His grave can be visited today in Philosophe British Cemetery at Mazingarbe between Lens and Bethune.

George Morrison was the husband of Isabel Readman, formerly Morrison of 28 Adam Street in Middlesbrough.

Morrison, George Michael.

Born in Chester-le-Street, George Michael Morrison enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 2nd battalion of the Machine Gun Corps.

Private Morrison died at home of illness or injury on April 11th 1917 at the age of 21 and is buried in Linthorpe Cemetery.

Morrison, Robert.

Robert Morrison was born at Saltash in Cornwall and enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 1st battalion of the Gordon Highlanders.

Lance Corporal Morrison was killed in actions at Delville Wood on August 18th 1916 during the Somme offensive aged just 18.

His body lost his name is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial to the missing of the Somme battles.

Robert Morrison was the son of Annie Booth Morrison and the late James Smith Morrison of 117 Greenvale Road, Eltham in London.

Morrison, Stephen.

James Stephen Morrison was born in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Morrison was killed in an attack on the village of Beaurevoir on October 5th 1918 at the age of 25.

The son of James and Ellen Morrison of 15 Clyde Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered on the Vis-en-Artois Memorial at Haucourt seven miles south east of Arras.

Morrison, Thomas.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Thomas Morrison served with the 8th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Morrison was wounded in fighting in the Angres sector and died of his injuries on April 10th 1916 at the age of 27.

His grave today lies in Tranchee De Mecknes Cemetery at Aix-Noulette on the road from Arras to Bethune.

Thomas Morrison was the son of Thomas and Mary Ann Morrison of Middlesbrough and the husband of Ida Mary Morrison of 7 Nelson Street in Middlesbrough.

Morton, W Lyall.

William Lyall Morton was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town to serve with the 20th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry.

Private Morton was killed in action during the Battle of Messines on June 7th 1917 at the age of 37 and today lies in Voormezele Enclosure No 3 situated two miles south west of Ypres town centre.

William Morton was the son of William and Mary Morton of 64 Southfield Road in Middlesbrough.

Mortimer, Thomas Bertram.

Born in Farndale in North Yorkshire, Thomas Bertrand Mortimer enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 331st Siege Battery of the Royal Garrison Artillery.

Gunner Mortimer was wounded towards the close of the Passchendaele offensive and died of his wounds on November 5th 1917 aged 29.

His grave can be visited today in Nine Elms British Cemetery situated just west of Poperinghe in Belgium.

Moseley, William.

Correct spelling William Mosley, he was born and lived in Middlesbrough and before the war worked as an engine cleaner on the railways.

Serving with the 1st battalion of the Durham Light Infantry attached to the Indian Postal and Telegraph Department, Private Mosley died on May 4th 1916 aged 32.

His grave today lies in Basra War Cemetery situated five miles north west of the city of Basra in Iraq.

Mossom, Thomas Sydney.

Thomas Mossom was born in Middlesbrough and enlisted in the town to serve with the 17th battalion of the Kings Royal Rifle Corps.

Military Medal holder Rifleman Mossom was killed in action on March 24th 1918 aged 20 in actions at the Somme crossings.

With no known grave he is remembered on the Pozieres Memorial by the side of the road between Bapaume and Albert.

Mossom, Arthur Oswald.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Arthur Mossom did his war service with the 1st battalion of the East Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mossom was killed in action aged just 18 on September 10th 1918 as the 2nd Battle of Bapaume closed.

Another with no known final resting place his name appears on the panels of the Vis-en-Artois Memorial six miles south east of Arras on the road to Cambrai.

Mossop, Joseph.

Joseph Mossop served under the surname of Henderson and was a Royal Navy stoker aboard HMS Indefatigable.

He perished on May 31st 1916 aged 30 at the Battle of Jutland when Indefatigable was hit by shellfire causing the magazine to explode and sinking the ship.

The son of Joseph and Elizabeth Mossop of 157 Stockton Street in Middlesbrough his name is remembered on the Chatham Naval Memorial in Kent.

Mote, Walter John R.

Walter John Rumsdale Mote was born in Cardiff but lived in Middlesbrough where he enlisted into the Royal Field Artillery.

Serving with "A" Battery of the 110th Brigade, Gunner Mote was killed in action on September 25th 1918 at the age of 19.

His grave can be visited today in Roisel Communal Cemetery Extension in the town of Roisel, six miles east of Peronne.

Mount, Michael.

Born in Middlesbrough, Michael Mount enlisted in the town for service with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Mount was killed in action aged 21 on the opening day of the Battle of the Somme, July 1st 1916, in a 2-30pm attack on the German held village of Fricourt.

His grave today lies in Fricourt British Cemetery, three miles to the east of Albert.

Mowbray, Ernest.

Ernest Mowbray was born in Newcastle, lived in Gateshead and enlisted in Middlesbrough into the Hussars before transferring to the 8th battalion of the Queens Royal West Surrey Regiment.

Sergeant Mowbray was killed in action aged 22 on July 31st 1917 at the Battle of Pilckem at the opening of the Passchendaele offensive.

The son of Mr and Mrs Mowbray of 28 Christopher Street in Gateshead his name is remembered on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres in Belgium.

Mudd, Henry.

Henry Farrow Mudd was born at Kildale and lived in the local area but enlisted in Woolwich with the 81st Battery, 5th Brigade of the Royal Field Artillery.

Gunner Mudd was killed in action on October 18th 1918 during the Advance to Victory and his grave lies in Premont British Cemetery in the village of Premont, twelve miles south east of Cambrai.

Mudd, Leonard.

Born in Sutton in Ashfield, James Leonard Mudd enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

In actions at Green Lane on Gallipoli, Private Mudd was killed in action on December 12th 1915 at the age of 20.

The son of John Mudd of Middlesbrough, his grave lies on the Gallipoli peninsula in Hill 10 Cemetery situated north of Suvla Bay.

Murgatroyd, James William.

James Murgatroyd was born at Shipley in Yorkshire and worked as a general labourer before the onset of war.

He enlisted in Middlesbrough with the 19th battalion of the Durham Light Infantry and was wounded in actions at Maltz Horn Ridge during the Battle of the Somme. Private Murgatroyd died of his wounds on August 24th 1916 aged 35 and today lies in Dive Copse British Cemetery in the village of Sailly-le-Sec.

James Murgatroyd was the husband of Emily Dalrymple, formerly Murgatroyd of 91 Lumley Street in Middlesbrough.

Murphy, John.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, John Murphy did his war service with the 9th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murphy was killed in action during an afternoon attack on the village of Contalmaison during the Somme offensive on July 10th 1916 aged 26.

The son of John and Ellen Murphy of 8 Hill Street in Middlesbrough, his name is recorded on the panels of the Thiepval Memorial on the Somme.

Murphy, John Joseph.

John Joseph Murphy enlisted in Middlesbrough with the Tyneside Irish, the 24th battalion of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Wounded in action during the Battle of the Somme, Private Murphy died of his wounds at home on September 29th 1916 at the age of 32.

The son of the late Michael and Hannah Murphy and husband of the late Mary Murphy his grave can be seen today in North Ormesby's St Josephs Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Murphy, Maurice.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Maurice Thomas Murphy served with the 4th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murphy was killed in action aged 21 on March 26th 1918 as the battalion fell back on Rosieres-en-Santerre during the German Spring Offensive.

His grave can be visited today in Pargny British Cemetery situated eight miles south of Peronne.

Maurice Murphy was the brother of John listed above and the son of John and Ellen Murphy of 8 Hill Street in Middlesbrough.

Murphy, Patrick.

Patrick Murphy was Middlesbrough born, enlisting in the town with the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murphy was killed in action close to La Clytte on July 25th 1915 aged 24 just three days after arriving at the front.

The brother of Ellen Murphy of 68 Frances Street in Middlesbrough, his grave lies in Sanctuary Wood Cemetery three miles to the east of Ypres in Belgium.

Murphy, Peter.

Peter Murphy lived in Cargo Fleet and enlisted in Middlesbrough for war service with the 5th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murphy was wounded in fighting between High Wood and Martinpuich during the Battle of the Somme and died of his wounds at the age of 19 on September 22nd 1916.

His grave can be seen today in St Pierre Cemetery situated in the north eastern suburbs of Amiens on the main road to Albert.

Peter Murphy was the son of Owen and the late Jessie Ann Murphy of 22 Elm Street in Cargo Fleet.

Names on the Middlesbrough War Memorial

Murray, James.

I believe this to be John Neil Murray who served in the Merchant Navy as a Greaser aboard the SS Zent.

He died aged 26 on April 5th 1916 when the Zent was hit by two torpedoes twenty eight miles to the south west of Fastnet.

Remembered on the Tower Hill Memorial in London, he was the son of Rose Murray of 34 Commercial Street in Middlesbrough and the husband of Lily Murray of 36 Raglan Street, Garston in Liverpool.

Murray, Arthur.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, Arthur Murray served with "W" company of the 4th battalion Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murray was killed in trenches on the Menin Road at Hooze aged 22 as the Germans launched a gas attack on Whit Monday May 24th 1915.

His body lost his name is remembered today on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres. Arthur Murray was the son of the late James and Elizabeth Murray and the husband of Rachael Croft, formerly Murray of 75 Lower Commercial Street in Middlesbrough.

Murray, Andrew.

Micheal Andrew Murray was Middlesbrough born and enlisted in the town into the 2nd battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Murray was killed in action on May 16th 1915 in fighting to the south west of Rouge-de-Bout.

His grave today lies in Guards Cemetery at Windy Corner close to Cuinchy.

Michael Murray was the nephew of James McGough of 21 Hilda Place in Middlesbrough.

Murray, John.

Leading Seaman John Murray served with the Royal Navy aboard HMS Erin.

He died of illness on June 10th 1916 aged 26 and is buried in Rosskeen Parish Churchyard close to the north shore of the Cromarty Firth in Scotland.

John Murray was the son of John and Julia Murray of Flower Street, Killimore in Co Galway.

Myers, Edward.

Edward Myers was born in the Newport area of the town where he enlisted into the 7th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Private Myers was killed in action on July 1st 1916 in a 2-30pm attack on the German held village of Fricourt during the Somme offensive.

His grave can be visited today in Fricourt British Cemetery close to where he fell to the east of Albert on the Somme.

Myers, George W.

Born and enlisting in Middlesbrough, George William Myers served with the Yorkshire Regiment before transferring to the 10th battalion of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Private Myers was wounded during the 3rd Battle of the Scarpe, Arras offensive and died of his wounds on May 3rd 1917.

His grave lies in Warlincourt Halte British Cemetery at Saulty on the main road from Arras to Doullens.

Myers, Joseph.

Middlesbrough born Joseph Myers enlisted in the town to serve with the 6th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment.

Sergeant Myers was killed during fighting at Hessian Trench and Stuff Redoubt during the Somme offensive on September 30th 1916.

His body lost his name is remembered with the other Somme missing on the Thiepval Memorial.

Myers, J W.

I believe this could be a double entry for Joseph Myers listed above.

Myers, Robert William.

Robert Myers was born in Middlesbrough and lived in the town enlisting in Stockton with the 225th Field Company of the Royal Engineers.

Sergeant Myers died aged 26 on July 4th 1916 and his grave subsequently lost is remembered today on the Loos Memorial at Dud Corner Cemetery on the Lens to Bethune road.

Myerson, N.

Born in the city of Leeds, Nathan Myerson enlisted in Middlesbrough to serve with No 3 Special Company of the Royal Engineers. Wounded in action during the build up to the Passchendaele offensive, Pioneer Myerson died of his wounds on July 23rd 1917 at the age of 23. His grave can be visited today in Lijssenthoek Military Cemetery situated seven miles west of Ypres in Belgium.

Myron, Maurice.

Maurice Myron was born at Oldgate in Middlesex and enlisted in Glasgow with the 11th battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

Private Myron was killed in action on September 15th 1916 in an attack on the village of Martinpuich during the Somme offensive. Another with no known grave he is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial set high above the old battlegrounds of the Somme.